THE FORNEY-EVANS CON-The Conspiracy Exposed by

Cooper, of Delaware. Thomas V. Cooper, Esq., of the Medic Republican, member of Assembly from Delaware, made a speech at West Chester, last week, upon which occasion he related the following little bit of lustory, which explains the origin of the fight against Hartranft on It was an office of such honor and emolu- curd or butter-milk, the butter will bring the part of certain "Reformers," well known to the public: But that which decide command our immediate and against attention is the State ticket, for a on the preliminary or officed him. We already and that General hartrant is the mark of every venemous arrow, and, since he must bear the shock of the battle, it is our duty, as good Republicans, all the more firmly to stand by him. I, for one have good reason to know that his personal and official integrity are above reproach. Late in the Legislative session last winter I was unwillingly made acquainted with those who are new and were then in compiracy against him. About nine o'clock in the morning I received a note requesting my presence at one of the rooms of the Lochiel There I was introduced by one of my contituents, who it was subsequently shown was one of Evans' securities, to George O. Evans, accused of appropriating $291,000 of the State's money, to Dr. Payne, the attorney Strohan and others. These parties wished me to introduce to the House a sework could no longer resist. ries of resolutions impeaching the honesty Hartranft in his management of the auditing department, and of Mackey, the chief of the Treasury. They went into a long explanation of their proposed movement, and endeavored to pledge me that if I became its legislative champion my name should be heralded throughout the State and Nation as a "model reformer." They spoke largely of their power and means, saying that they could control $500,000, not for the purchase of votes in favor of the resolution, but as a moral support to the movement—that this amount and this support would come through some unhanned channel of reform. They named many of the newspapers which could be freely counted upon to back the undertaking by glowing articles and such evidence. The success of the canal system was so striking as to give him an almost unequalled national position; and but for his sudden premature death in 1828, when he was but lifty-nine years of age, it is by no means unlikely that he would have succeeded have a stayling friend of the precision. Flowers for Winter. A writer in the Country Gentleman says is only when plants are healthy and prolific of perfect flowers, continually renewing, that they can fully satisfy the eye. Plants already exhausted by summer blooming cannot renew good bloom without many weeks of rest, and a growth of new shoots from near the roots or the main stems. Only new and healthy shoots can carry supplies freely enough to swell either leaves of flowers or fruit to large size and leaves of flowers or fruit to large size and leaves of flowers or fruit to large size and leaves of flowers or fruit to large size and leaves of flowers or fruit to large size and leaves of flowers or fruit to large size and leaves of flowers or fruit to large size and leaves of flowers or fruit to large size and leaves of flowers or fruit to large size and leaves of flowers or fruit to large size and leaves of flowers or fruit to large size and leaves of flowers or fruit to large size and leaves of flowers or fruit to large size and leaves of flowers or fruit to large size and leaves of flowers or fruit to large size and leaves of flowers or fruit to large size and leaves of flowers or fruit to large size and leaves of flowers or flowers or fruit to large size and leaves of flowers or flowers. full beauty, and only healthy roots can col-lect supplies, and only healthy clean leaves can digest them for use. Roses (teas and dailies) may be prepared in August by cutting them back to well placed bads or shoots low down. This, of course, arrests all further summer bloom, or if it does not entirely, the blooms should be sipped off as soon as they begin to appear. As soon as new growth sets in, stimulate with top-dressings, or with a weekly use of diluted liquid manure. If any shoot threat ens to extend irregularly, its tip should be nipped when it has reached a point where a bifurcation will be well placed. Blossom buds will show on the tips before winter. But the heliotropes must be taken in, in September, before they feel the least touch of frost, and the roses before it can pinch them at all severely. Geraniums that have been kept rather dry should be reported early in September. It is best to ruise all the old earth from the roots and shorten them pretty close, as well as the tops, planting them again firmly in fresh good earth before the roots can dry any. Keep shaded and not too wet for a week or so, and as soon as growth appears water and feed well. This will soon result in handsome and thrifty plants, which will bloom by Christmae, and continue for months. The most efficacions and pleasant remedy for the above purpose, used with great success by our soldiers during the war, as well as by all lasses, and for children almost a certain cure. Ask your druggists for it, and take nothing else . K. Thompson, proprietor, corner Diamond Martin and Spring streets, Titusville, Pa.

This Cut illustrates the manner of Using DR. PIERCE'S Fountain Nasal Injector,

This instrument is especially designed for the erfect application of DR SACE'S CATARRY REMEDY. It is the only form of instrum at yet invented with which fluid medicare can be earlied high up and perfectly applied to all parts of the affected na-sal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and plears frequently exist, and from which the catarrhaldischarge generally proceeds. The want of success in treating Catarrh heretofore has arisen largely from the impossibility of applying remedies to these cavities and chain's re by any of the ordi nary methods. This obstacle in the way of effeeting cures is entirely overcome by the livening of the Douche. In using this justiment, the Fluid Is carried by its own weight, the shuffing, forcing or pumping being required.) up one no-till men full gently flowing stream to the highest portion of the nasal passages, passes into and thoroughly clears esalt the tubes and chambers connected there with, and flows out of the opposite nost it. Its use is pleasant, and so simple that a child can understand it Full and explicit directions accompany each instrument. When used with this instrument, Dr. Sage's Catarth Remedy cures reent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications Symptoms of Catarrh. Frequent head ache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes pro fuse, watery, thick miners, purulent, offensive, &c.
